There's A Reason

*I was always taught, there's a reason
That people do the things they do,
Though you may not always like them.
Their heart hides a secret from you.*

*If they're quick to bite your head off
Or constantly brag and boast,
Remember, the people we like the least
May need our love the most.*

*Could it be they had been abused
Or even ridiculed all their lives?
These are the type of hurtful things
That make sure their heart survives.*

*But, the heart that survives is hardened
And, on the seas of life, they coast.
Remember, the people we like the least
May need our love the most.*

PROCLAIMING THE THEOLOGY OF THE BODY

In proclaiming the Theology of the Body, Christopher West shares the late Pope's meditations on the beauty and mystery of living out celibacy. Those consecrated to the celibate vocation call the faithful to a greater communion with God. These sessions will be oriented towards illuminating the mystery of the celibate vocation and will focus on the pastoral applications of this theology in our diocese. To take place Friday, January 21st, from 10:00AM-3:30pm at Sanctuaire de Sainte-Sacrement, 500 Ave. de Mont-Royal East. All are invited.

Have a wonderful week everyone, and keep up the great work!
