This Week's Stewardship Reflection

"Whoever believes in me will do the works that I do, and will do greater ones than these." The apostles, gathered in the upper room with Jesus, must have been astounded to hear Him utter those words. Hadn't He been feeding the multitudes and healing the sick? How were they supposed to do greater works?

His answer came as He completed His statement: "...because I am going to the Father." Beginning His intercession for us before the Father, we can pray in His name as He prepares a place for us. As He told them, "If you know me, then you will also know my Father." It takes our commitments to stewardship to get to know Jesus, as we spend time with him in worship, prayer, and meditative reading of the Bible. But if we do, St. Peter informs us that we "like living stones", can let ourselves "be built into a spiritual house" where spiritual sacrifices of praise can be offered to the Father.

But just getting to know Jesus calls for stewardship of Time, so the institution of the diaconate called for stewardship of Treasure and Talent. Stephen and the others were chosen because they were "filled with the Spirit and Wisdom" to distribute the material resources of the Jerusalem Church responsibly, and they expanded their ministry to include preaching and evangelization. We, following their examples, can do the works of God in our own situations in life, wherever God has placed us.

Blessed In Aging

Blessed are they who understand my faltering step and shaking hand
Blessed, who know my ears today must strain to hear the things they say.
Blessed are those who seem to know my eyes are dim and my mind is slow.

Blessed are those who look away when I spilled tea that weary day.
Blessed are they who, with cheery smile, stopped to chat for a little while.
Blessed are they who know the way to bring back memories of yesterday.

Blessed are those who never say, "You've told that story twice today".
Blessed are they who make it known that I am loved, respected and not alone.

And blessed are they who will ease the days of my journey home, in loving ways.
